Porter Interviewed.

[illegible] an interview [illegible] his case [illegible] thought [illegible] vote taken on the motion he offered after the [illegible] was rather favorable to his case. [illegible] Senator Logan had been [illegible] favor of the [illegible] but fear [illegible] when the time came. He preferred [illegible] matters of the military history of General [illegible] What did surprise General Porter was that General Hawley and Senator Platt [illegible] Logan's charge that General Terry was now retired [illegible] with the petty hope that beclouding the fair [illegible] fame of Generals McDowell and Pope, they would be cleared away from his path [illegible] He thought Senator Hawley should have especially resented such an unworthy and untterly unjust [illegible] as all that Hawley has earned [illegible] under Alfred Terry in the old Tenth army corps, where Hawley succeeded as colonel of the Seventh Connecticut and later as commander of a brigade. Senator Platt has [illegible] General Terry all his life and knew no such [illegible] this sentiment could ever influence Terry.

General Sewell of New Jersey, who has charge of the bill, will try to press for a vote [illegible] friends have learned that as a last resort Logan will demand to have read a full record of the Schofield-Terry-Getty board, which would take a week's time as it comprises about 3000 printed pages. Porter's friends are somewhat discouraged at this as they fear this rate would become wearied of the matter and consent to let it go over, so as to get at the presidential succession and appropriation bills.

Said Porter: "I am becoming accustomed to waiting for justice, but I know right will prevail. If the record is read I fear it will wear the senate out, but I have no fears of its prejudicing me. If the least objection is made, the cry will at once be raised that I fear the result. Nothing would suit me so well as to have the first ninety pages read, and that is the whole of the side of my opponents."

The New Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The finance committee of the senate yesterday virtually completed the tariff bill. Two or three items remain to be finally acted upon. Pig iron is fixed at $6 per ton instead of $[illegible] [illegible] committee [illegible] and fix the duty [illegible] recommended by the commission. Iron ore [illegible] to the same rate [illegible] iron or steel rails and iron or steel flat rails [illegible] one cent per pound instead of [illegible] by the committee. The duty [illegible] railroads [illegible] of a cent upon each grade of [illegible] copper [illegible] and all composition metal of which copper is a component.

Including the [illegible] the [illegible] test is retained, and the duty is fixed on all sugars from No. 2 [illegible] saccharine strength [illegible] No. 16 duties standard, at [illegible] cents per pound instead of [illegible] from No. 16 to No. 20 [illegible] cents instead of [illegible] all sugars above No. 20 [illegible] instead of [illegible] molasses 5 cents per gallon. On all tobacco valued at 40 cents per pound and upwards 75 cents per pound. On cigars, cheroots, cigarettes [illegible] present duty retained. In liquors no changes are made. In cotton goods few changes are made in the way of reduction. In wool and woolens the distinction between washed and unwashed wool is removed and the duty fixed at the same as that on washed wool at present [illegible] On woolen rags, shoddy and waste the duty is fixed at 10 instead of 12 cents per pound. Upon woolen cloths of all grades the duty is fixed at 35 cents per pound. In the schedule of books the committee fix the duty at 20 per cent ad valorem instead of [illegible] as recommended by the commission. The above embrace all of the most important changes proposed by the finance committee.

The Nicaragua Canal.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—One of the objects of ex-President Grant's visit to Washington at the present time is said to be the [illegible] of the Nicaragua canal bill. General Grant is one of the incorporators of the Nicaragua company. If the bill granting a charter and guaranteeing the bonds of this company is passed, General Grant would in all probability be invited to become its president. The friends of the canal project are growing very anxious and fear the prospect of passing the bill this session is waning. It is said that the influence of all the [illegible] Northern Pacific [illegible] exerted to defeat the bill [illegible] obstacles. DeLesseps [illegible] several influential persons to oppose the Nicaragua scheme. It is arranged to [illegible] the house next week [illegible] [illegible]

HAVE WE AN ASSESSMENT LAW?

SILVERTON, Jan. 3.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Shortly after the adjournment of the last legislature there appeared in THE OREGONIAN a letter from the assessor of Multnomah county, giving the reason why the governor should veto the [illegible] assessment bill, etc. That the legislature had failed to provide [illegible] an assessment for the year 1883, and that therefore the state would be without a revenue for that year. The [illegible] of the state seem to understand that the governor did not veto the bill for that reason, which is very well, since I have not heard that the governor has published the reasons which compelled him to veto the bill, but he has withheld any [illegible] to give them to the public. The law [illegible] to give them to the public in any other way than by veto message [illegible] and until that time public opinion must be held in abeyance in regard to the merits of the reasons which actuated him in suppressing the most important measure of the last session. In the meantime it is well enough to say that his veto message could hardly stand upon the assumption that if he had signed the bill there would be no assessment and therefore no revenue in the year 1883.

The vetoed bill provided expressly for annual assessments as may be seen by referring to Sec. [illegible] of the printed bill, which is as follows:

"Each assessor shall be furnished by the county clerk of his county with blank assessment rolls and enter upon the discharge of his duties on the second Monday of July in each year," etc.

Sec. [illegible] of the printed bill was stricken out in committee and so passed the legislature, but it does not prevent an assessment in any year as there is an existing law equivalent to the excised section, whereby the present assessors could have been appointed by the county courts, precisely as the statute requires.

Sec. [illegible] as follows: "The county courts of the several counties in this state shall at their first regular session after the 1st of January, 1883, appoint proper assessors for the respective counties, etc." The present statute provides as follows: "When at any time there shall be in either of the offices of county clerk, sheriff, coroner or any county [illegible] officer [illegible] to execute the duties thereof [illegible] the appointee [illegible] the county court [illegible] [illegible] provides as [illegible] shall [illegible] to qualify as required [illegible] on or before [illegible] next after his [illegible] shall be considered vacant [illegible] [illegible]

The Chili [illegible] Terms of Peace—An Earnest Appeal to [illegible] Bolivia to Accept Them.

[illegible] The terms [illegible] already [illegible] with [illegible] Calderon [illegible] Peru [illegible] to Chili [illegible] pay $[illegible] for Tacna and Arica [illegible] was obtained for Calderon's immediate acceptance, but it is [illegible] I have every reason to believe that if a settlement is reached [illegible] Peruvian congress assembles in March next, Peru will [illegible] Tarapaca, Tacna and Arica without the payment of any indemnity at all. If Senor Calderon could at once be legally empowered to accept these terms of peace, I believe the Chilian government would feel itself under moral obligations to pay this amount to Peru. It is a very [illegible] four or five months it will and [illegible] right to increase her demands. The United States stipulated to pay Mexico for a great and rich territory, in which are California, Texas and New Mexico, the sum of $15,000,000. The district of Tacna and Arica has [illegible] the intrinsic value of guano, no nitrates and but small agricultural possibilities. It is not even [illegible] Peru as a military point in the protection of her territory. Yet Chili offers to pay for it two-thirds of the sum paid by the United States for territory incomparably greater in extent and richer in resources than Tacna and Arica. [illegible] Senor Calderon would have accepted these terms. How much Peru is suffering has been endured and how much Peruvian wealth has been lost in these two months your excellency can judge as well as I. To Senor Calderon's unwillingness to comply with the sale of Tacna and Arica there is now added the other difficulty here alluded to, viz: the fear [illegible] the Chilian government that, in view of your excellency's [illegible] there is nothing to be gained in treating with him. But the very [illegible] of the difficulty presents itself, which [illegible] to immediately send formal [illegible] to Calderon to accept the Chilian terms. I beg leave to earnestly recommend his measure to your excellency, both in my official and personal capacity. I assure your excellency of my entire willingness to render any assistance within my power in the best settlement of the controversy between republics of the Pacific.

American minister to Bolivia presented credentials November [illegible] The vice president of that republic, replying, said that if at any period Bolivia and her ally Peru had entertained hopes that the government of the United States would take an energetic stand in the war of the Pacific, in order to arrive at some solution of the difficulties in connection with the principle of justice, such hopes were based on the [illegible] declared policy of that eminent statesman Blaine, secretary of foreign affairs, and on the assertions of the plenipotentiary in Lima, Gen. Hurlbut. [illegible] from an authorized source [illegible] inspire [illegible] nations which were victims of injustice. [illegible] expectations [illegible] for the results of Vina del Mar conferences and the declaration made by Minister Trescott that the good offices of his government could not be employed while Chili insisted on her conditions for peace. From that moment Bolivia understood that her fate depended on her own efforts, and your statement confirms that belief. Bolivia, thoroughly appreciating the benefits arising from peace and tranquility, wishes that her victorious [illegible] may be so inspired by Providence that she may enter on a path of justice and right, and so bring about a settlement agreeable to the national interests and honor. It rests with Chili to put an end to the [illegible] arising from the war that afflict her sister nations. Bolivia will then commence to open up its industries and to increase its strength, its commerce and will open the country with the characteristic generosity to the intelligence and capital of the world, which may desire to reap rich reward from its territories, because Bolivia thoroughly understands that foreign immigration is the principal element of prosperity required in young countries. Persuade yourself to believe, Mr. Minister, that the people of this government of Bolivia [illegible] desire to cultivate and improve these ties which apply to unite us to your nation and worthy government, and in the execution of your high mission you can rely upon [illegible] assistance and that deference to which you are entitled.

Business of the Northern Pacific.

Cincinnati Gazette.

The earnings of the completed portions of the Northern Pacific road are a surprise to every one, and it is perhaps the only road in the west that ever paid from the run of its track as the rails were laid down. The gross earnings for the first nine months of the current fiscal year were $[illegible] against $2,[illegible] for the same period in 1881, showing an increase [illegible] The earnings for the month of April 1882 were $[illegible] against $[illegible] for the same month last year [illegible] The earnings for [illegible] week in June 1882 were $[illegible] an increase of $[illegible] over the corresponding week last year. This enormous increase of traffic and its great profit to the company has given great satisfaction to the holders of Northern Pacific stocks. There is no good reason why Northern Pacific stocks [illegible] be worth as much as Union Pacific. The road traverses a better country than [illegible] Union Pacific and has a nearer line to New York for the China and Japan trade [illegible] miles nearer to China and Japan from New York by the Northern Pacific [illegible] than by the Union Pacific.

FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 5, 1883.

A PROPER SOLUTION.

The republicans of the country have not forgotten the [illegible] present at Chicago in 1880 when delegates from states which could not send a single electoral vote to the national [illegible] party a candidate for the presidency [illegible] states whose votes were the [illegible] the election of [illegible] republican [illegible]. Nor have they forgotten the other part of this proceeding, namely, the effort of the [illegible] "bosses" to carry the vote of states as a unit and under the gag law. It was to prevent a repetition of work of this kind that the convention instructed the national committee to prepare a new scheme of [illegible] to be observed in republican national conventions. From our telegraphic report of yesterday it would appear that a plan has been [illegible] the ends which these objects will be secured. Some weeks ago [illegible] plans, one of which, [illegible] tions of an [illegible] to be adopted. It has three capital features: [illegible] representation, apportionment of delegates so as to give those states which must be depended on for electoral votes proper weight in the convention, and prevention of sharp work on the part of "bosses" in forestalling the action of the people by calling conventions and "instructing" delegates before it is generally known, or even suspected, what is going on.

It will be remembered that at the Chicago convention, in 1880, the question as to the right of "unit rule" and "district representation" was forever set at rest in favor of the latter. The convention instructed the national committee to prescribe methods or rules for the selection of delegates to the national convention of 1884, announce the same to the country and issue a call for the convention in conformity therewith, provided that such methods or rules shall include and secure to the several congressional districts in the United States the right to elect their own delegates to the national convention. Under the rule as now proposed each state will send to the republican national convention two delegates for each congressional district and four for the state at large; and such states as have republican senators and representatives will be entitled to send two additional delegates for each of them. For illustration of the effect of this rule it may be stated that under it Iowa will have just twice as many votes in the convention as Kentucky. And this is proper enough.

The justice of having the conventions more nearly representative of the republican strength of the country than heretofore is apparent. States ought to be represented in these assemblages somewhat according to party strength. By such a system states from which the republican party expects to get its majorities—like Michigan, Ohio and Massachusetts—will have a proportionately stronger voice in the selection of party candidates and the formulation of party principles than states from which it expects nothing, like Missouri and Alabama. Everybody will acknowledge the justice of this, and there is every reason why it should be enforced.

HOMESTEADS.

Almost every week THE OREGONIAN is requested to give information about the homestead and other land laws. Inquirers wish to know what proceedings they are to take that they may avail themselves of the privileges which these laws offer to those who desire to occupy and cultivate the soil. Usually they are answered by letter, requesting them to address the land office nearest them, stating their wishes as clearly as possible, so as to insure a definite reply. Several inquiries of like nature are now again on our table. Possibly an attempt to answer them through THE OREGONIAN may do others a service, as well as those by whom these inquiries are made.

The person who desires to take land under the homestead law must make application in writing to the land office in the land district where the tract is situated. In this application the section, township and range in which the land is situated must be stated, with the number of acres applied for. No homestead entry can exceed 160 acres. Women as well as men are entitled to homesteads upon complying with the requirements of the law. The applicant must be a citizen of the United States, or must have declared an intention to become such; the land must have been surveyed by the United States, and there must be no prior claim upon it. An affidavit is required of the applicant, setting forth that he or she is a citizen, or has filed a declaration of intention to become such; that he or she is 21 years of age; that the application is made for his or her exclusive benefit, and that he or she has not before had the benefit of the homestead law. To perfect the title continuous residence of five years is required. But the law does not prohibit the homesteader from working off the land for others at intervals of reasonable length; and if the homesteader dies before the end of the five years his widow or his heirs may reside on the land for the remainder of the time and get the title.

The fees to be paid upon homestead entries are these, viz: For 160 acres within the belt of any railroad grant, on the even-numbered sections, a fee and commission amounting to $22, to be paid at the time of making the entry, and $12 more when certificate of title issues, making $34 in all. For 80 acres the fees are just half as much, and for 40 acres $11 will be the total amount. For entries not within the belt of railroad grants the terms are more favorable, the fees and commissions amounting to $22 for 160 acres, half as much for 80 acres, and $8 for 40 acres.

It is asserted by the Cincinnati Enquirer, the great democratic organ of Mr. Pendleton's state, that "the Pendleton civil service bill is an outrage on the democratic voters and workers of the country," because "it comes at a time when the republican party is apparently about to be thrown out after a long lease and abuse of power," and will leave the democratic workers who have waited so long for their "turn" without a chance to get in. It is not perceived by the journal that presents this statement that the argument is really an argument for the bill. What is wanted is a complete divorce of the public service from partisan management. It is not desirable to allow the offices to be put up as booty or spoil, to be contended for as prizes in every election. The law should prevent the use of the public service by either party as an electioneering machine and to all subordinate positions in the public service applicants should be admitted without regard to their party affiliations. Only the leading positions, by which the policy of the country is shaped and directed, should be subject to political change. This is the only possible way to prevent abuse and debasement of the public service.

A dispatch yesterday stated that the jute factory at Oakland, Cal., which has been turning out several millions of wheat [illegible] each year, has suspended operations because it could not compete with the jute mills run by convict labor in the California penitentiary. Here is a hint for Oregon. If a jute mill in our penitentiary could be made to pay the state, would get something out of its convict labor. There is no [illegible] in this state with which it would compete, and it certainly would be better to organize an industry at which the convicts could be employed than to keep them in idleness and be compelled to let them go before their term expires to make room for others at the penal boarding house.

There is excellent promise of the passage of the proposed cheap postage act. Only two [illegible] of the [illegible] on appropriations [illegible]

AN OREGON SERMON FOR VAN DERBILT.

The daily papers of New York [illegible] persistently [illegible] Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt with having said on a [illegible] "the public be damned!" Now, Mr. Vanderbilt may have said this and [illegible] but we do [illegible] [illegible] Anybody [illegible] is worth [illegible]

As a contrast to this [illegible] of the New York [illegible] Mr. W. H. H. Porter [illegible] of the Chicago & St. Paul railroad [illegible] the public [illegible] worth [illegible] years ago, during a heavy storm which washed away [illegible] of that road [illegible] train which was [illegible] hauled by [illegible] with [illegible] was detained at a point between [illegible] out bridges at [illegible] daily expense. Mr. Porter got the road in running condition by putting an army of laborers at each end of the gap, that the [illegible] train resumed operations with the loss of but one day's performances. Mr. Barnum was so delighted with the result of Mr. Porter's alacrity that he sent him a check for $1000, which Mr. Porter returned to him, saying that he was already in the employ of the railroad company and could not accept [illegible] It is pleasant to note the existence of men who are satisfied with doing a plain duty.

Another little case nearer home is not amiss in this connection. About ten years ago, while some important negotiations were pending between the Northern Pacific railroad and the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, it became necessary for the president and vice president of the latter corporation—Capt. J. C. Ainsworth and S. G. Reed—to go to New York. This they did, leaving Robert R. Thompson as the virtual head of the corporation during their absence. Now, while Mr. Thompson was one of the very shrewdest business men that ever saw Oregon, he was not so familiar as he himself would have liked with the details of steamboat work. However, he made up his mind to do the best he could and, as it was at the dull season of the year, he hoped to get through with it in good shape.

A few days after assuming charge he took a trip over the lines to see how everything looked. He got on the "middle river" boat and the regular clerk was absent from his post, acting as agent at Lewiston; and a temporary clerk was running in his place. Mr. Thompson happened to be standing in the forward cabin when one of the immigrant passengers went up and asked the clerk a question about a matter wholly foreign to the clerk's duties. The querist got a short and snappish answer. Mr. Thompson waited till the man had walked away from the office and then he stepped up to the window. "My name is Thompson," said he, in his quiet way, fixing his large gray eyes upon the clerk with a searching glance, "and I am acting president of the company during Capt. Ainsworth's absence." "Pleased to meet you, Mr. Thompson," said the clerk, extending his hand. "I don't know whether you are or not," replied Mr. T., dryly. "Why did you answer that man in so harsh a manner just now?" "Oh, he asked me a question that was none of my business, sir. Besides, he is a coarse and ignorant fellow," continued the clerk. "Are you coarse and ignorant?" asked Mr. T. "I [illegible] not, sir," said the clerk, stiffly. "Well, then, you should not have answered that man in his own style. The point was, not whether he was a gentleman, but whether you are one. It may be said by the enemies of our company that we charge high prices for riding on old steamboats; but it shall not be said that our boats are officered by incompetent men or men wanting in good breeding. Don't let me hear of this occurring again. And remember that as long as you are employed in the carrying trade, you are for the time being the servant, and not the master of the traveling public."

The clerk took the wholesome hint and lived up to it in every movement of his daily life. He has long since retired from the river, but in his new avocation he is proverbial for his courtesy to all who come in contact with him. The lesson was a good one, because it was applied in such a kind and gentlemanly way that the rebuke carried with it no sting. This is the true position of the great corporations now engaged in the carrying trade—they are the servants, not the masters, of the producing masses and the traveling public. It is a pity that Vanderbilt, if the story told on him be true, could not have somebody like Porter to manage the roads for him; or that he could not have a party by the name of Thompson—with the P, as the tipsy Toodles would have it—to teach him a little respect for the masses out of whose daily needs he has aggregated his enormous wealth. An occasional Oregon sermon, like the above, might do the owner of Maud S. a good deal of good.

It may interest many persons in this section to take note of the paragraph from the Springfield (Mass.) Republican (printed in another place) on the decision of the United States supreme court on the "drive well" question. The case refers to patent rights that have lately been in litigation in the U. S. courts here, (Castleman vs. Saskalla) in which Judge Deady sustained the right of the plaintiff to the patent as assignee of Green, the patentee. In cases on appeal from Indiana the claim of the patentee has been fully sustained by the supreme court, and the whole controversy therefore is ended.

The bill for the Nicaragua canal is meeting with considerable opposition. Yet the plan is feasible, and certainly it would be better for our government to aid an American company to the limited and guarded extent asked, and have complete control of the canal whenever the necessities of the country required it, than let it be built by foreign capital and then seize it when the exigencies of war required it. This was what England did with the Suez canal, and the example ought not to be followed.

California is credited with 4,152,349 sheep, [illegible] one-tenth of the whole number in the United States; and the Pacific states and territories stand credited with 6,161,380, or 15 per cent. of all the sheep in the union; and the production of them has been the work of less than twenty-five years.

Gen. Logan has succeeded in showing very conclusively that Fitz John Porter was not hunting a battle on the fateful August day of 1862. This alone is reason enough why the decision of the court martial should stand.

Senator Davenport's letter raises the question whether there is any legal authority for assessment of the property of the state in 1884. If his views are correct the question will be already [illegible]

[illegible]—Hermann Sinsheimer [illegible] the account at [illegible] and [illegible] of the residents [illegible] of thanks to [illegible] bringing about [illegible] They also feel [illegible] refused to allow the [illegible] state that he has [illegible] such business and was [illegible] as a farmer. [illegible] Thompson, who has [illegible] The cottage [illegible] that he was [illegible] of good moral [illegible] Even Spandle [illegible] character. The reputation of [illegible] who can [illegible] all events [illegible] the number [illegible] is the [illegible] Chapman, the constable [illegible] allow himself [illegible]

[illegible] BRUTALITY.—Mary [illegible], was brought to the city jail last [illegible] beastly condition to which it is possible [illegible] being to fall. She was picked up [illegible] and Harr on West Park street, [illegible] and being unable to walk, [illegible] the officers to the station. [illegible] a young man was following [illegible] to raise her upon her feet, [illegible] the pol [illegible] he [illegible] Later on, [illegible] to the station [illegible] after the arrest [illegible] as Jo. Baker, and [illegible] a hour or so before, when, to all appearances, [illegible] perfectly sober. He acknowledged to have [illegible] drink with her in a saloon, after [illegible] they went out for a walk. Suddenly the girl's [illegible] and she fell upon the sidewalk. He [illegible] together up and take her home when [illegible] appeared. He thought some one had [illegible] her, as he expressed it, but although, [illegible] showed no evidence of having [illegible] but liquor. This girl is a daughter [illegible] Sullivan who died so miserably in a [illegible] saloon some time since, and [illegible] treading the path which leads to the [illegible]

[illegible]—Yesterday before Justice [illegible] was tried the case of J. W. Maxey, arrested [illegible] as an absconding debtor at the instance of F. E. Conniker, a groceryman of this city, [illegible] owed a bill of $21.85. After hearing [illegible] in the case the Justice discharged [illegible] and assessed the costs upon the complainant. [illegible] is an old soldier and bears an excellent [illegible] for honesty and industry. He [illegible] taken up a land claim near St. Helens, [illegible] at work clearing it his wife and [illegible] remained in this city. Last week he [illegible] to take his family to his new home. With [illegible] household goods he went on board [illegible] he was arrested. His furniture was [illegible] and put ashore, where it remained exposed [illegible] for several days. The children [illegible] and the mother's anxiety for them [illegible] since his arrest has caused her [illegible] in body and mind. As a financial [illegible] was not a success to the complainant. [illegible] the case and the payment [illegible] board at the county jail amounted to [illegible] he tried to collect.

[illegible]—About five o'clock yesterday [illegible] a woman of forbidding countenance, with [illegible] and dragging by the hand a [illegible] about three years of age whose legs [illegible] knee down in the mud and snow, [illegible] down Third street at a rapid [illegible] who saw her concluded she was [illegible] the child in his arms he conducted [illegible] the city jail. There she screamed and [illegible] swore, very much like an [illegible], and the frightened child added its [illegible] clamor. The woman was recognized [illegible] Gritzmacher as Mrs. Greell [illegible] she deserted a week or so [illegible] street. Upon being searched she [illegible] a permit from the county judge [illegible] the county hospital. That the controversy [illegible] follows: First, that the [illegible] court was and is without [illegible] ferry over a [illegible] already occupied by a duly licensed ferry. And further, that the establishing of this ferry will [illegible] the interests of the present ferry [illegible] and [illegible] that there is nothing to [illegible] that such ferry is necessary, and that it will [illegible] public [illegible] and that the said [illegible] defendants Montgomery and Wilson.

[illegible] Judge Stott had the writ of review issue as prayed for, and that it be directed to the county court and County Clerk as well, and that further proceedings be stayed till Monday, January 8th, and thereafter, unless the defendants appear by that time and show cause why the order should not continue, this order to be returned on Monday, January 15th.

This matter appears destined to show the capabilities and possibilities of our laws to their fullest extent for no sooner has one side made a move which seems to a success, than the opposition offsets it with a move which appears equally decisive. It now remains to see what the next move will be.

SEAMAN'S FRIEND SOCIETY.

Fourth Quarterly Meeting—The Traffic in Sailors as Exposed by Masters.

The directors of the Portland Seaman's Friend Society met yesterday in the parlors of Ladd & Tilton's bank at 2 P. M. The report submitted by Chaplain Stubbs concerning the Mariners' Home was quite gratifying. The enterprise is now fairly launched and bids fair to become all that its philanthropic founders desired in its establishment. Letters from officers of ships at Astoria and at Fort Stevens were read and they gave a vivid impression of the enormity of the nefarious traffic in seamen, which is being carried on by certain sailor boarding house keepers and their runners. Five men were run out of one ship for whom $600 had been paid by the captain. Another case is where a man, taken from the Cambrian but three or four hours previously, was smuggled on board a ship and they received $70 for him. It was stated that ships are boarded by these people before they reach Astoria and the crews are demoralized by drugged liquor taken to them for this purpose by runners and thus they become dupes and victims.

Two or three captains are report that these runners have drawn their revolvers upon them when they, the captains, endeavored to prevent them from going on board their vessels. Blood money and advance wages, amounting to $90, at least, for each man, is what these captains and ships have to pay for sailors shipped by these runners. In some instances these sailors have been re-handled and additional blood money and advance wages have been obtained for them.

Seamen who ship themselves have been intimidated and beaten, and even abducted by these sailor traders to teach them a lesson. Ships have been delayed for the want of men to bring them to terms and compel them to pay sailor traders their prices. Captains have been informed that if they ship any part of their crews from the Mariners' Home they shall not have any men from their houses. The employes of the Home have been insulted, and the chaplain has been cursed and threatened on different occasions, by these people, who have even entered the Home for these purposes.

In view of these letters and reports a committee consisting of Messrs. Donald Macleay, Henry Hewett and Nathaniel Ingersoll was appointed, to whom documentary evidence is to be referred for subsequent action.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Northern Pacific railroad, and to the O. R. & N. Co. for facilities and favors granted to the chaplain in the prosecution of his labors at the several points he visits.

A donation of nearly 300 copies of the Scriptures, in various foreign languages, from the American Bible Society, was acknowledged, and the secretary was directed to forward the thanks of this society.

On motion, it was voted to hold the next annual meeting on the 15th of March next at 2 P. M.

THE HUMPTULIPS RIVER.

Examination of the Obstructions to Navigation—Something of the Country Bordering it.

In accordance with the provisions of a clause of the harbor and river appropriation bill, Philip G. Eastwick, assistant United States engineer, was some time since dispatched to make a preliminary survey of the obstructions to navigation existing in Humptulips river, a stream flowing into Gray's harbor, to ascertain whether the country adjoining was of sufficient importance to justify the government in incurring the expense of removing them. As great tracts of the land along this stream belong to capitalists of this city, considerable interest is felt here in the result of his investigations.

From Mr. Eastwick's report to Capt. Powell, United States engineer in charge of this department, we condense the following: The Humptulips rises in the southerly spurs of the Olympic range of mountains and flows into Gray's harbor. The length of the river below the foot hills is about 40 miles. U. S. government surveys have been extended over country embracing 25 miles of the lower part of the river. The east fork and principal branch joins the river 24 miles above its mouth. From this point to the harbor the river passes through a valley from six to nine miles in width. The soil for a considerable distance back from the river is low level land, a dense growth of vine maple and alder. Except in the lower portion the land is rarely overflowed. The soil is the bottom land, of deep, rich loam, and when cleared will make good farms.

Up to within two months there was but one settler residing in the [illegible] tributary to the river. Recently three others have taken up claims. All the land, however, [illegible] of the river, throughout the [illegible] its extent, excepting only the land reserved by the government for school purposes, was taken up five years ago by large blocks by private parties. It is possible to improve the river for navigation only below Stevens prairie, a distance of 20 miles, by the removal of snags and timber drifts. From the best information obtainable after removal of drift, etc., the river will be navigable for boats drawing 3 feet only to the head of tide water, and during [illegible] eight or nine the [illegible] would be navigable as far as Indian Katto's [illegible] miles from the mouth, and higher up for [illegible] at intervals. The channel is obstructed by numerous snags and few drifts, so that [illegible] of the river and [illegible] removing these obstructions may [illegible] be estimated at [illegible]

The Humptulips [illegible] river has heretofore been of no importance commercially. Its future importance will depend upon the development of the agricultural and timber resources of the country tributary to it. The attention of immigrants has for some time past been directed to the fertile lands further to Gray's harbor, and the population of the country is rapidly increasing. The lands on the Humptulips [illegible] to settlers on the account of difficulty of access. There is much valuable fir and cedar timber in this region. Chehalis has been the principal [illegible] settlement, and the people have done their trading at Olympia. Recently a steam sawmill has been erected at the mouth of the Hoquiam, and a salmon cannery above the mouth of the Chehalis.

FISH HATCHERY.

The following is a copy of a petition ordered to be forwarded to Washington City at the last meeting of the chamber of commerce:

ASTORIA, Ogn., Dec. 28, 1882.

To Hon. Spencer F. Baird, U. S. commissioner of fish and fisheries, Washington, D. C.: Dear Sir—The Astoria chamber of commerce would respectfully ask for the establishment of a salmon hatchery by the general government on the Columbia river or its tributaries. [illegible] expressed that the salmon will be [illegible] in the river, forming a continuous [illegible] uninterrupted [illegible] across the continent before the month of August [illegible] and in time [illegible] spawn taken [illegible] that year. The Columbia river salmon for distribution would be required, while the restocking of the parent waters would be of great value. The catch on the Columbia river was not less than [illegible] 0,000 fish, and surely no greater industry and consumption needs fostering. We exported from the Columbia in 1882, 540,000 cases. [illegible] There are 24 or more canneries [illegible] now at Astoria, [illegible] in grounds, securing a permanent [illegible] buildings, machinery, etc., of at least $[illegible]. No other river in the United States produces so fine a quality of salmon [illegible] the world has not [illegible] every market of [illegible] color and flavor, [illegible] cent. in price over the product of any other river.

Respectfully submitted by order of the Astoria chamber of commerce.

THE WEISER MINES.

A Rich Mine of Belt Tributary to Portland.

For the last two years a few prospectors have been engaged in the mountains along the eastern side of Snake river in what is known as the Weiser country, with good success. Several mines have been located, two of which have shown up in a way that are and promise to become valuable properties. These are the Black Maria and Daniel Boone. From James Landy, original discoverer of the Black Maria, the following is learned concerning the condition of the district.

The district is about [illegible] miles long and three wide, extending northeast and southwest from what is known as 4th of July camp to Rock creek. The main camp is about 25 miles northwest of Weiser City, and four miles from Snake river. The formation is porphyry, and Mr. Landy says it bears great resemblance to the famous Comstock district. The Black Maria has been opened by a 65 ft. shaft, sunk 56 feet on an incline of 40 degrees, all in ore. Mr. Landy has taken out 2½ tons of this ore, which assays $[illegible] per ton. The average on carries $72.50 in gold. The ore is generally free milling black feldspar, carrying some manganese. The croppings of the ledge are 14 feet wide, and as far as prospected the shaft is all in good ore. The mine has been bonded for $25,000 to Agnatz Hergetsmyer, of Rochester, Idaho, and in spring Captain Guyer is interested with Colonel Green, of San Francisco, and they will put in a stamp mill in the summer to crush the rock on hand, and develop the future of that camp. The Daniel Boone assays better ore than the Black Maria, but the ledge is smaller. It has been developed by a shaft 25 feet in depth.

Mr. Landy says the tendency of the people of that section is to look to Portland for supplies, and by interesting herself in their behalf she can easily secure that entire trade. The mining machinery to be sent in must come through Portland and if Portland can supply the same, or anything else needed, at reasonable rates, to Portland dealers will the orders come. About twelve miners are wintering in the camp, and a ferry is in course of construction across Snake river to provide means of access from the Oregon side. When the Oregon Railway and Navigation company's lines is completed, Huntington will be the nearest point, and Mr. Landy believes the company will construct a branch line [illegible] [illegible] that region is rich in their mineral wealth and [illegible] the mines at present developed are not likely [illegible] to all the [illegible] for the [illegible]

EAST SIDE.

[illegible] A very enjoyable [illegible] Friendly Lodge No. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Master [illegible] sisted by Past Master Workman H. [illegible] [illegible] programme was rendered which is worthy of mention. Prof. S. Bullock commenced the exercises with an excellent rendition of the song, "We are Growing Old Together," with choral assistance by Mrs. S. Bullock and Mr. Wm. Underwood. Past Master Workman J. E. Boynton then addressed the meeting concerning the objects and work of the order, of its beneficent purposes and ennobling influence; the good it has accomplished since its comparatively recent organization and its continued and increasing popularity, proving better than anything else the soundness of the principles on which it was founded by the appreciation of the people, who were so ready to take advantage of their benefits. Mr Boynton's remarks were terse and effective, commanding the undivided attention of his listeners. A select reading was now announced from Mr. Jos. N. Sturm. Though an unassuming and comparatively stranger here, seemingly desirous of hiding his light under a bushel, he found it impossible to long conceal the fact of the prominence attained by him as an elocutionist before casting his lot in East Portland, nor found it possible to resist all the importunities of his friends to be entertained by him. His fame therefore had preceded him last night, and it is safe to say that none of those who so eagerly awaited to hear him were disappointed. He chose for his first reading here Tom Hood's "Dream of Eugene Aram," acknowledged to be one of the most difficult readings in the English language. Being encumbered with the book, not having thoroughly committed the lines, the force and effect of the delivery were somewhat marred; but the complete self-control, the well-modulated voice, the clear and careful enunciation, the thorough appreciation and fine conception of the subject he handled, the forcible interpretation, the graceful gesticulations, and the dramatic power with which the whole delivery was characterized, bespoke an artist of no mean order. His effort received a good round of merited applause. After a song, "Brothers, Good Night," by Prof. Bullock, Mr. Sturm favored the audience with another selection from Tom Hood—this time the pathetic "Bridge of Sighs," and it is doubtful if that touching story ever appealed to the sensibilities with greater effect than it did through the medium of Mr. Sturm's talented tongue last evening. It may be well to state here however, that Mr. Sturm is a modest young man, whose business occupies almost his entire attention and does not wish to make any engagements for public reading, except occasionally, to oblige intimate friends.

This closed the exercises in the upper hall, when the party by invitation repaired to the lower floor, where they discussed the merits of a dainty spread prepared for them, and then danced out the remainder of the evening to the music of Prof. Parrott's quadrille band. The lodge is to be congratulated on the handsome manner in which they entertained their friends, the occasion proving one of rare interest and pleasure.

THE ALBINA FERRY CASE.

Yesterday, according to appointment, the suit against Ed W. Bingham, J. T. Gray, Al. Hastings, Lee Hoffman, Charlie Angell and Frank Ritchie, for "willfully breaking, cutting away and injuring and destroying a boom," the property of Geo. W. Shaver, came up for hearing in Justice Bullock's court. Examination was waived, and defendants were held in the sum of $50. Bonds being given, a different party becoming responsible for each defendant, the defendants were released.

A circumstance wherein the city of East Portland figured in this affair may be worth relating. Some time since, when the value and importance of the disputed property were comparatively trifling, Mr. Shaver obtained permission from the board of trustees, by resolution, to build a wharf in front of his property. Subsequently it developed that this was not the legal form of permission, and that it could only properly be granted by ordinance. Consequently, about a month since, Mr. Shaver petitioned the board to pass an ordinance in conformity with the resolution. The matter was referred to the city attorney, who drafted an ordinance for the desired object, and would have submitted it to the board at its last meeting but for the fact that the form was objected to, not only by the attorney for Shaver, but also by the attorney for Montgomery. The point of objection was that the ordinance merely granted Shaver the right to extend his wharf to deep water "opposite" his property without designating the northern boundary to which it could be built. As to which is the rightful boundary line, as is known, is now the point at issue, and the city attorney, by his judicious wording of the ordinance, has probably saved the city from becoming involved in expensive litigation.

A DISTRESSING SITUATION—RELIEF NEEDED.

Considerable sickness yet prevails on Water street, south of L. It appears to increase rather than diminish, and its extent and danger are now such as to cause grave apprehensions for the safety, not only of those afflicted, but of others in the vicinity. Mr. J. J. Sealey has lost three of his children by the ruthless disease which is attacking this neighborhood, typhoid fever, and how his own prospects for life, it is said, are very meagre. His wife and other children are also victims to the disease, but their cases are reported as more encouraging. The death of Mr. Holtz and his son have been reported and the remainder of the family are now afflicted. The widow of Mr. Holtz, Jun., is a daughter of Mrs. Butler, whose husband died recently from injuries received on the railroad, and to the result of her attentions to the unfortunate family, Mrs. Butler also contracted the disease and she in turn communicated it to her family, who reside in the southern part of the city. Her daughter, removing with her two children to the residence of her mother in order to attend her during her sickness, they all became victims of the dread disease, and in this condition were compelled to remain in the house and depend upon others for assistance. The parties here referred to, besides others afflicted, are all either in poor or destitute circumstances, which renders their misfortunes doubly distressing. Mr. Sealey has received some assistance from the [illegible] lodge of which he is a member, but this is not a circumstance to what the situation demands. Mr. H. C. Myers, president of the board of trustees, drew the attention of the committee on health and police to the fact yesterday, and the probability is a special meeting of the board will be called at an early day for the purpose of devising some means of relief.

DIED.

The wife of Hon. Benj. Simpson of this city, died at her residence yesterday morning about 4 o'clock. For three weeks she had been suffering with inflammation of the spine, which failed to yield to all that skill could do or of unremitting kindness suggest. For the last few days her life has hung in the balance, and the result was not altogether unexpected. Funeral exercises will take place at the residence, corner of F and Fourth streets, to-day at 1 o'clock, Rev. J. G. Burchett, of the Baptist church, officiating.

NOTES.

Dr. Coley and S. M. Keenan struck a snag while sleigh riding last evening and were both dumped out in the snow. No injuries.

E. C. Beard has secured the advertising privilege on the Stark street ferryboat for another year.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The furnace of the Oregon Iron & Steel company at Oswego has turned out about 1,000 tons of pig iron since the company took hold of it, making as high as 25 tons per day.

A few days ago the U. S. L. S. S. crew at the cape had a gun drill. They threw a line some 600 feet, attached a hawser and sent it to a tree—a substitute for a ships mast—and brought back a man in the life buoy. The drill was witnessed by prominent officers of the post and pronounced a success.

G. W. Prosser has a force of men at work on the Tualatin, cleaning out snags and drifts, preparing that stream for navigation. The O. I. & S. Co. will put a boat on during this year that will be a great convenience for the farmers along the river to Cornelius, as immense quantities of wheat and barley, onions and potatoes, are raised on the swamp lands near the Tualatin.

On New Year's day Linville Beeson, of Milk creek, Clackamas county, aged about 17 years and a splendid young fellow, accidentally shot himself with a large bore muzzle loading rifle in the abdomen and died about ten hours afterward. He hardly knew how it was done, but said he was standing on a log with the rifle in front and supposes he fell or slipped causing the gun to go off.

Idaho.

It is reported that the Minnie Moore mine at Bellevue has been sold for $1,000,000.

A big strike was made in the Mountain King and Solace mines at Ketchum last week.

Manager Smith, of the La Plata, Colorado, Mining & Smelting company, who during the past few months has visited the principal mining districts in New Mexico and Idaho says he greatly prefers the mines of the latter country, and should he change his base of operations will certainly go to Idaho.

News from Bozeman of December 19th says: Track laying work on the Northern Pacific has stopped, as the track has caught up with the grade, which is incomplete. This leaves the end of the track one mile east of Hoppers and eighteen from Bozeman. There are some heavy cuts and fills and high trestles to finish before the road can reach the tunnel. The grading between the tunnel and Hoppers is being pushed vigorously. The railroad wire has reached a point five miles east of Hoppers. The Western Union is at a stand at Billings being the western end. As they are cutting poles in the mountains and hauling them to the line, it looks as if the railroad wire would reach Bozeman this winter.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

DAILY OREGONIAN,
THURSDAY, Jan. 4, 5 P. M.

The tone of to-day's wheat market was firmer than yesterday. Prices are unchanged, the prevailing impression seems to be that the top price has been about touched, unless foreign influences are brought to bear upon the market. New York markets show no change, while Chicago is a trifle dearer. The foreign market is firm.

The freight market shows no change for the better. Rates are, if anything, lower than yesterday.

After having experimented several years and expended $150,000 in attempts to make the investment a paying one the Pacific jute factory at Oakland, Cal., has closed. The opposition factory at San Quentin, run by convict labor, undoubtedly had much to do with its downfall. Perhaps the proprietors would find a more favorable field for their enterprise in this city.

The dry goods trade is opening out very fairly for the new year. One of our leading jobbing houses reports a heavy sale to a new section of the northwest not previously covered by Portland, and there seems to be a tendency among the trade to make prices that will insure a retention of orders in this city. Cotton goods have declined and country buyers are taking advantage of this state of affairs to lay in large supplies.

Industrial Notes.

Over 8,000,000 of oysters are annually canned in this country. Of these 5,000,000 bushels are packed raw and 3,000,000 bushels cooked and hermetically sealed. There are 150 oysters in a bushel, and at the rate given there are canned each year 10 oysters for every inhabitant in the United States. This requires 5,600 vessels and employs 50,000 persons. The total amount of capital invested is $10,000,000, and wages earned is $9,000,000 in round numbers.

Real estate sales in Minneapolis, Minn., for the past 12 months exceeded $16,000,000. Her building statistics for the year aggregated $6,[illegible]. She has built 300 stores, costing from $100 to $[illegible] each. The improvements of four railroads alone in the city aggregate $1,321,800. Her population exceeds 80,000, and her flouring mills have a maximum capacity of 25,000 barrels per day. A new factory is to be started there for making jute bags. It is estimated that the use of jute bags instead of barrels will effect a saving of about $2,000,000 annually to the millers.

The Pullman Company at Pullman, Illinois, are about to engage in the manufacture, on an extensive scale, of freight cars, and have already received orders for some 400 cars. Work is now in progress on ten dining cars for the Northern Pacific, and six dining and six sleeping cars for the New York, West Shore & Buffalo road. Enough orders are on hand to keep the shops busy for the next year, among the largest of which are sixty first-class and thirty-seven second-class passenger coaches for the Northern Pacific, and fifty passenger and twenty baggage and mail coaches for the West Shore road.

San Francisco Markets.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.

Receipts—Wheat, 95,000 ctls; flour, 8700 qrs sks; potatoes, 770 sks; eggs, 9500 dozen.

Wheat—No material change to note in this market; all transactions are at full prices; choice to extra choice shipping, $1 7[illegible]@1 77½; extra choice milling, $1 80. Futures are steady; sales No. 1 white March, $1 82½@1 83¼; buyer February, $1 82½.

Barley feed—The market has a weak tone, yet sellers do not appear at all anxious, and very little selling pressure is noticeable; spot, $1 25@1 30; milling futures, No. 1 feed sold at $1 23@1 24 February, $1 26@1 25¾ March, seller the season $2 30.

Oats—The general features of the market are unchanged; sale of good Humboldt at $1 87½, no change to note in quotations.

Potatoes—The market is firmer; offerings are smaller, while an improved demand is noticeable; Petaluma and Tomales, $1@1 10; early rose, 80c@1; river red, 85@87c.

Onions—The market is weak at 40@70c.

Grain bags—Calcuttas, standard. Market is quiet. Last sales reported were 8¼ July.

Salmon—Stocks are small, leaving little scope for operations; $1 80@1 40 asked for Columbia river, jobbing.

Wool—No improvement to note; a light business doing; prices in buyers' favor.

Eggs—Market is well supplied; fresh California, 33@35c.

Butter—Fresh roll 26@32½c; offerings are large.

Freights—Weak, with a declining tendency. The market gave way a point yesterday; a wooden vessel accepts 31s 3d to Liverpool. There is a fair inquiry for tonnage, but at lower figures than quotations.

CHARTERED.

For Liverpool, Am ship General Knox, 2218 tons, 31s 3d; to Cork, U. K., Br ship Western Monarch, 1[illegible] 1315 tons, contracted for in England, private terms.

Portland Produce Market.

WHEAT—Receipts to-day, 12,107 centals. Market shows a better feeling. Choice valley will bring $1 72 without trouble, and sales on a basis of $1 73 are reported from the country.

FLOUR—Receipts to-day, 3866 bbls. Most of this was placed with city dealers to supply local trade. We quote Capital Mills, high grade, $5 25; superfine, $3 50@3 75; Oregon City Mills, best, $5 25, Salem Flouring mills, extra, $5 25.

BARLEY—A small invoice of 320 centals was received to-day from up the valley, the first of the year. The demand is mostly from brewers. We quote $2 40 per cental.

OATS—Receipts to day, 320 centals. No change to note in the market. Holders are firm and not anxious to sell. A large portion of the Oregon crop is unsold. Quotations are 55@65c.

MILLSTUFF—Firm. Bran, $20@22; middlings, $25@35; chop, $[illegible]; shorts, $25@27 per ton.

OIL CAKE MEAL—$25@35 per ton.

HOPS—Unquotable at present.

CORN MEAL—Quotable at $4 per cental.

POTATOES—Receipts very small. Quotable at 50c per bushel.

VEGETABLES—Onions, good article, $1@1 25 per cental; cabbage, 2c per pound; cauliflower, $2 per dozen.

BEANS—Market nominal. Small whites, $4 50 per cental; Bayos, $1 25; pinks, $4; butter, $4 25.

FRUIT—Fifty-three boxes were received to-day. Apples quotable at 50@60c per box; pears, 75c; California oranges, $6; lemons, $7 50@8.

DRIED FRUIT—Plummer dried apples in boxes 9@10c; plums 9@10c; Oregon prunes 12c; German prunes 14c; raisins $2 50 per box, with advance of 25c for fractions; peaches 16c; California figs 9c; Smyrna figs 25c.

NUTS—Almonds, California, 19c; walnuts 10@12c; peanuts 9c; filberts 18c; cocoanuts 8c.

HONEY—Comb 18@20c; strained 10@12c.

BUTTER—Receipts to-day were small. We quote best Oregon dairy, 30c; California fresh roll, 31@c; common 20@25c.

POULTRY—Chickens, $4 50@5 00 per dozen, ducks, $6.

EGGS—Market dull. We quote 35c per doz.

PROVISIONS—Eastern Oregon hams, 16@16½c; bacon, 16@17c; lard, in pails, 16½@17½c, lard, in tins, 15½@16c.

WOOL—There is really no market and quotations are almost useless. A choice lot was offered to-day at very low figures, but unsold.

HIDES AND SKINS—The market is depressed for the time, but this feeling is likely to be but temporary. We quote green hides, 8c per pound; dry, 15c; culls, ⅓ off; deerskins, winter 25c, summer 30c; elkskins, winter 13c, 20.

FURS—Beaver, $1 50@1 75 per pound; otter, $3@4 each; mink, 25@[illegible]; fisher, $2 50@5; Blue Mountain marten, $[illegible]; northern marten, $1@2 50; raccoon, 15@25c; muskrat, 8@12½c; bear, black $5@15, brown $1@4, northern higher; coyote, 40@75c.

HAY—Choice timothy, baled, $22 50 per ton.

Portland Meat Market.

The market for all meats are firm. An advance of ½c on all kinds was made on Monday last.

BEEF—First quality 5½c, with slight advance for stall fed, second do, 5c, third do, 7c.

VEAL—Small 6c, large 6½@9c, choice 8c.

MUTTON—Wethers 7@8c; ewes 7c.

LAMB—Quotable at 8c.

PORK—We quote live hogs at 6@7c, or 7@8c dressed.

SHIPPING INTELLIGENCE.

Shipping Notes.

Br bk City of Carlisle will commence to take in stiffening this morning. She will load with flour.

Br bk Eskdale was to have gone down river to-day, but on account of the river rising will probably take on a full load here.

Am ship [illegible] will probably have to change her berth soon, to make room for the Br str C. T. Hook, from China, consigned to W. J. Van Schuyver & Co.

The various vessels alongside wharves were employed cleaning down their decks to get rid of the snow and slush, and will soon look as trim as usual.

Am ship Young America is about due from New York. She has been in the Pacific coast trade several years and usually makes good time.

OUR REPORTER'S VACATION NOTES.

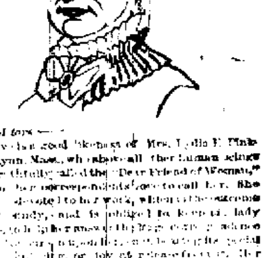
During his vacation this season, our Mr. W. has taken upon himself the task of satisfying our numerous readers that what ever goods are manufactured in our goodly city of Roger Williams are of as high a grade and as fine in quality as can be produced in any spot on the globe. Especially is this so when the skilled Pharmacist of many years experience evolves extracts from the finest botanical specimens of the vegetable world the most potent cure for some special disease. In proof of his assertion that Providence finds the best, he relates an interview with an acquaintance given him while sojourning temporarily at her residence. She says: "About a year I suffered severely from the Rheumatism in my hands, and a swelling in the neck, which I endured two or three months with as much pain [illegible] treatment of an excellent doctor, and trying many kinds of medicines without any marked benefit. At last a medical friend advised me to try Hunt's Remedy, he considering that my severe suffering to the bad condition of my kidneys, which were not performing their proper functions, and I commenced taking it, and in a few days the medicine had dispersed my headache for I was entirely disappointed, the swelling in my limbs and was in bad condition [illegible] I have not had a touch of it since. More recently I was troubled with impurity of the blood, which showed itself in severe eruptions on my face. I again resorted to Hunt's Remedy, and after taking it a short time was completely cured of that complaint. Hunt's Remedy has proved very beneficial to me in attacks of sick headache which I have sometimes, and I notice the improvement as soon as I take the Remedy. This Remedy has strengthening elements, for it has made me feel much stronger, and has been very beneficial to my general health. I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers like myself. Mrs. L. G. TANNER, No. 136 Pearl street." We surely know that Mr. W. E. Clarke, the manufacturer of Hunt's Remedy, is a skilled Pharmacist of many years' experience, and a prominent member of our State Board of Pharmacy.—Ed.

GREAT PRAISE.

Asher G. Mann, of Cottage Home, Ills., says: "I have been prostrated for three or more years with Kidney Disease, at times I was not able to put on my boots, my wife has often pulled them on for me. I was not so bad as that all the time, but I never knew what it was to be without pain in my back until I commenced using HUNT'S REMEDY. Since I began to take Hunt's Remedy I have been free from all pain, and take pleasure in saying that it is the best medicine that I ever knew for kidney and liver diseases."

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]



Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity."

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.
